Suggesting new project to be floated, run-up-the-flag-pole and brokered @ our weekly Skype...kind of indifferent as from the news we will continue to shelter-in-place for maybe another month...yet? Who knows??? They didn't clear it through me! Given this likelihood, and due to the now repeated request(s) by the local lodge staff, I will table my immediate request to super-size, to upgrade my shelter-in-place to a more fitting and creative venue and maybe, a seaside view would be nice... In the old days, the publisher always tried to please the talent...encourage the artist spirit...and I assure you that such a simple action as relocating me closer seaside might just do the trick! Wish me luck...What's the point spread on the WWWG Office Betting Pool? Can I get in on this? Light a candle and say a prayer...for me, please? Raw images...still a work maybe in progress!

Transit Camp – Westerbork

IN MEMORY OF LIBERATION DAY!

"For all of us who were left standing on Liberation Day with eyes with which to see and a voice with which we can still shout out...reminding all that it is our collective duty to never let humanity forget even when the world would rather just do that and get on with business as usual."

And then Robo Man turned to Buck (Rodgers) and said...

"I make $20 per week more than you!"

Then, Rodgers silently took out his blaster and let it rip, tearing Robo Man into shreds of scattered potato chips...

Returning his blaster to his wide belt, he looked around and addressed what remains of Robo Man...

"Now I make a lot more than you, Bubba!"

Just finished before the power went out...and it seems like it will rain later today or maybe, sometime in the night...

Given that my old bones are predicting rain...may not get more done tonight...can't chance an electric surge...my Panasonic Toughbook* is long-on-tooth but is the only game here in town and I never risk getting it zapped! Just another long night with only Patsy (Cline) "Greatest Hits" CD to be my friend and even she continues to taunt me with seductive suggestions to (again) flee my current confinement...to desert the safety of my lodge room cell.

"Damn, the costs!"

I have grown to rather hate these rainy nights here in Penang ever since they came and took away my TV set!

 Still after all my promotion(s), hints and outright begging...Panasonic has yet stepped up with an endorsement contract - little-a-lone a more modern update for my CF-38...*

DATELINE: July 31, 1874 in the Kingdom of old Siam.
Even then, this sage understood the future and explained the coming dark days of a future Plague Year...Only wished that we had kept a better journal as he assured us that the situation (cure?) was simple and in plain sight...
"For those who take the time to be quiet, stand still and let the universal solution wash up over them much as one would the warm rays of the rising sun..."

SECRET GEOMETRY IN THE AGE OF BRAQUE

Of course, Seine already noted that and he and the other elitist bozos at WWWG never let me forget that I am not a product of a classical education but, rather a public school education.

So I never studied Geometry little alone Secret Geometry and that has been a high wall that conspires to prevent me from getting it and by extension of replicating it in my multi-generational attempts to be the New Age Braque- but, at least, I had the look...as the old cowboy told me when I asked how could I become a cowboy too?

“Son, all ya got to do is get yourself a cowboy outfit and you can be a cowboy too!”

Then he told me that the Sears Mail Order Catalog had a great deal on cowboy outfits – that was where he got his.

Regardless of Seine’s suggestion and his insights into expanding the marketability(s) of my publications (in which he is so heavily invested), I shall not turn this into yet another Art History Book or dive deep into the finer meanings and interpretations of my inner artist...

Campers!

Please allow me to explain...

SECRET GEOMETRY IN THE AGE OF BRAQUE

Andy Warhol once wisely answered an art critic's comments that his creations were not traditional art (real art) by saying...

"What is traditional art? Art, you see, truly means that I have found ten or more people that agree with me and then, my friend, that is true art...next question, please?"

I'm on board with Andy and will not get drawn into a running twitter battle with some Ukrainian DNC troll (still living in his mom's basement when not working at the DNC Call Center ...Ya! You know who I am talking about...don't ya, Bubba?) who fancies himself a "Woke" Age Artist but, who flunked out of Art History 101 at the Community College (didn't ya?). Not gonna happen! Sorry friends and fellow campers but this needed to be said. The problems of this new "Woke" Age tire my brain and I do miss those bygone ages when, I could be like good old Uncle Joe (Bidden?) and just come up and punch you across the room if I disagreed with you comments.

Those (you little Woke Twitter Trolls) were the days when it was worth living and you stood tall by what you said. It is deeds not words that will change the world and I don't need 256 characters to prove that!

WHAT ON EARTH HAS EMIL BROUGHT US?

At first, we wrongly assumed that this may be part of some unknown plot by Emil to create havoc while confusing even his most loyal readers but, then we rethought Emil's ability to do this and then, figured that this was just Emil's way to make a fast payday by going back through his extensive catalog and assembling (on second, third...fourth read) what actually turns out to be a rather interesting collection of his earliest, non-commercial work...many of these creations date back from before we fled Paris but mostly, these were made in the mid to late 1920's in Havana.

Emil was rather taken by the modernism of Georges Braque which later became famous as Cubism – which used geometry to create a style that was abstract in essence, almost pure abstract art and what Emil was always trying to achieve in his unsuccessful attempts to recreate the inner meanings of the Secret Geometry that he felt that Braque had hidden in plain sight in his art. This was extremely frustrating and hard for Emil as he never advanced in school beyond basic, survival math. This collection was Emil's passion but, he never made a dime off them as they were a hard sell and were never as commercially successful as his normal portraits and doodles were while we were in Havana.. Finally, after all these years, Emil has succeeded in making a lemonade payday out of these old dusty lemons. Well done!

FLEEING REDEMPTION

"Fleeing redemption, passing on my need to atone for numerous sins and misdeeds...I hid out at the temple amongst all the pilgrims, tour touts, money changers and a sea of assorted rude, selfie obsessed tourists stumbling all about and amongst the ruins...

Then the World Heritage Rent-a-Cop yelled

"There he is!"

"He is the guy who just tore up the gift shop and was telling everyone that Jesus would have done the same..."

Well he would! In fact, I remember from my Sunday School Classes, he did just that...

"Of course, it didn't go so well for him after that..."
just came to mind as I jumped the Temple Wall back out into the Valet Parking Lot...
One step closer to freedom!

FLESH FLOWER WARNING?

"Tuesday Morning coming down...fresh flowers..."

Wonder what the bad news is?

Flowers and especially fresh flowers are designed to break something terrible to us???

Longer extension to lock down???

Is the government closing the lodge...???

Will I be homeless????

Will I be sent a detainment camp that I heard about,
down around the docks not far from where the cruise ships use to dock?????

The mind run amok!

I find myself shaking in my own created fear...
from a smile to full meltdown in 13-seconds...
must be a new record, even for me...

OH MY!

OK CAMPERS CALM...

Chill out!

False alarm, seemed that the young gal from the front desk, put them there after one of her numerous gentlemen friends ran them by this morning...
SEE! I told you take a deep breath and chill out, didn't I?

WHY DON'T I FEEL LIKE A WARRIOR?

In the Year of Plague, where we are told to, encourage to become mighty Plague Warriors by hiding under our beds...

Sometimes (well! Just this one time if I am being truthful) I miss Georgie "Bubba" Bush as at least he gave us $500 and told us to go to the Mall to defeat the Terrorists..

Here is my "30 Days in the Hole" Profile of Courage as a mighty plague warrior...safely tucked into the safety of my own little bed...from the security of my room...

This just seems to be all wrong...?

We didn't defeat the Nazis by hiding in our rooms...
although Charles Lindbergh did say that we should stay at home while writing nasty letters to the editor about just what a rude dog Hitler had become!

Entering Cambodia across the frontier from Thailand...shows the utter physical destruction of old colonial towns nearly wiped off the face of the map, leveled by cannon shells...by the time that Emil arrived in the boom town of Siem Reap...what was so stark and clear was that you can destroyed buildings but, what was very clear that the endless years of war have not destroyed the spirit of a people who still long, hope for a return to an uneventful life...

Traveling with Emil is a pain...it is an exercise in boredom and sore feet but, still with an old school Nikon F-4...

Was on another long lay over...

Going nowhere rather fast...

Sitting around this old, tired airport,

It all kind of left me bored.

Seeking the illusion of advance,

I jumped up onto a waiting bus...

Seeming to be headed...somewhere...

I hoped it was going downtown...

Once, I was out and free, free of the airport's crap...

I discovered that I was now on another Day Trip to Hong Kong.

Dead beyond tired, a bit more than bored of laying-about while Patsy whispered in my ear...

"Walking after midnight...like we use to..."

That truly was all of the little incentive that I needed...bolting but being ever so stealth, I made my way pass the sleeping security rent-a-cop without waking him from his much-needed slumber...dashing out onto the welcome but empty midnight street...

a late night, a rainy dew hanging, hugging the air and right down the street from me; there was a group of soldiers or police making their curfew rounds...! Who saw the other first is kind of a mute question as my life long instincts as an old time political street fighter and semi-pro motorcycle hooligan sprung into immediate action as I flashed a smile, turned in mid-step and bolted back to the lodge's now locked door! "Who is this Patsy?"

Well! She is like this really famous, dead singer that I had been channeling...That is the other reason that it is blurry as I was at this point excluded from the actual conversation and their attention was now on the security guard and it was only due to his conversing argument(s) that "this Foreign devil is as crazy as a loon" and something to the effect that I had only slipped by him as he was afraid that I might be infected and (I believe) that he assured them that he truly feared I might even bite him...

On being escorted back to my room, I tried my very best, my most correct PC/WOKE mythology to properly convey my upmost gratitude for his most kind assistance... at which point he stopped in mid-step, turned and calmly spoke in near perfect English:

Just looked up and it was almost 3 PM...The lodge sat up a share and exchange table in the dinning room (They swear that they generously sprayed the table's continents...let's hope!) where you can put down a book or whatever you are done with and exchange for one you have not...sort of like the "White Elephant" exchanges that offices do at X-Mas Time.

I pawned off my Jackson Brown CD (the skipping one - NO! I didn't put a disclaimer on it) and picked up Patsy Cline's greatest Hits (greatest torch singer of my generation - no one can touch her!).

Afterwards...this inspired...focused me to do some more work on the the new book...about a third done...

TO ALL EMIL TREKKERS AND FELLOW TRAVELERS

In all amazement to your dedication, here is shoutout to all of you die-heart Emil Trekkers and fellow travelers that no matter what...you ride out into the midst of a terrible Plague Year and spend what little remains of your savings to support Emil's on yet another month of his current lock down and interment on the Island of Penang.

While it is rather nice to have an extensive social distancing from Emil...the downside is the sea of "URGENT" telexes that we receive from him daily (he refuses to accept that e-mail is here to stay and still refers to the Internet as something called a "mojo wire" – see what I mean) pleading his dire poverty along with his demands that we instantly "super-size" his present shelter-in-place to a better location and a proper seaside view. You are lucky in that you never see this side of Emil or else, you too might be all too glad that he is interned at a location so far away from you!

This is a part of what Emil calls his "Hobo Tour" from last year but the never got around to finishing...

Hope you enjoy!

Act quick before we come to our senses!

Welcome to all the remaining Emil fans...

We know that there are a few of you whom Emil has not insulted, badmouth enough, who hasn't been totally grossed out or worse yet, bored to death with his continual whining script.

We appreciate your continued support for our losing cause of getting our money back.

This issue is a non-shy attempt to monetarize upon your interest and for us to further promote our dream of art sales, tee-shirts and maybe, a coffee mug or two...

So far, Hallmark still remains rather rude and dismissive in their rejection of our proposed projects but, we have not lost heart and are publishing this with the hope that you might like to order an art print or two...three?

Again, as we always attempt to achieve, we didn't tell Emil that we were doing this issue as to get it published without the endless drama that Emil would bring to the process.

Don't tell him...PLEASE!

The World According To Emil

3rd Street Gallery, 2019 Art Show - March 3-16, 2019

NOTE: DUDES! DUDDETTES! LIKE THIS IS FREE!

There always come a time when, one must sit back to see the whole picture, to take in the fullness of what you are involved with and this is one of those actual moments for our long involvement with Emil, here at WWWG.

This is the first gallery event since Emil was in Las Vegas, back in 2006 and even though, the time in-between seems to have been disappointing, it is yet proof that everyone gets a second chance at being a contender ...even Emil!

The bigger problem here was in the logistics, format and trying to master a maelstrom of technical issues of taking Emil from small format, E-Book prints to prime time, in the 3rd Street Gallery here in Singapore. With crossed fingers, a lit candle and a mantra of pleading prayers for divine intervention; we have assembled the following show...Hope you like.

Emil's Discovery of Social Media

This may become our greatest crime against all of poor humanity and thus, what we will most have likely have to answer for on the Last Day of Judgement, we are starting to deeply regret the brilliant idea of introducing Emil to the world of Social Media.

As a publishing company, please understand we are filled with remorse and we do not, in any way, take this matter lightly or attempt to dismiss it lightly given what has become the sheer and ever increasing volume of ugly complaints, more than a few foul death threats, bad YELP Reviews and even a rather poorly assembled letter bomb that was left on our front door, the other morning (although, this might have actually been from Emil) So, we decided to chronicle this debacle before we are all deplatformed.

This Truly, is this not our purpose in life to crest this hill, return to the beaches and set torch to our ships before marching inland with Cortes...

You can never go back...

Tom Wolfe was so correct...

Always, we must decide to march off forward,
Never can we retreat into the safe comfort of our past...

Live for today...

Live in this very moment,

The past is dust and if you continue to live in that graveyard, you can have no future...

Such random, these are troubling and utterly strange thoughts,

Are they not?

Maybe, 4 am is way much too early to stop drinking!

Waitress!!!

Kindly bring us another bottle..

ATTENTION CAMPERS!

To all of fellow warriors in the battle over untruth, to all of my fellow travelers who share in the belief in the ancient Mantra of Hell, "The Truth is the Truth!" and please allow me a few moments of your time to share with all five or six of my most eternal fans, my most steadfast supporters and the core of the actual buyers of my books; I was not to have a say in the assembly of this edition as WWWG said that I have already reeked the whirlwinds of mass, literary arts destruction and have personally brought about the near economic collapse of WWWG Productions Ltd.

I was at first faltered by their comment(s) that I had, alone and totally all by myself, done something that no one had done before, in bringing the Internet together...

Then, they added, "against you!"

I said "UHH???"

STILL CRAZY FOR EMIL? OH MY!

Given the bitterness of this Great Year of Plague and Emil's continued interment, lock down on the Island of Penang – which means that we have spent a large part of the past month wading through 100 variations or abstractions of Emil's room confinement and deluged by endless telexes from the Emil pleading poverty and seeking a WWWG bailout...

Instead we sent Emil several of his backup portable drives by DHL and asked him to piece together from that a new edition of interest...

This is it!

I am beyond shocked and somewhat amazed by this topic as this was part of the unfinished assignment that we commissioned, that we sent him to Hong Kong to do – right before his “Detention” by the HK Thought Police.

Hope you all will enjoy this blast from the past!

STILL CRAZY FOR EMIL? OH MY!

In yet another shameful example of how one is forced to degrade their soul as a true-to-life starving artist and a mindless Rube who has spent way too many years staring at the wrong end of the money stick and thus, subjecting one's own self (like myself) to the pitiful plight of WWWG's consistent, their insistence that I toil for below slave wages while adventuring on another leg of my famed Hobo Tour...

A while back, Seine thought that it would be fun to send me off to Hong Kong and to create a new edition about this most famous wonder of the world.

Sadly, I agreed and was off to my first visit to Hong Kong since I was there in it's colonial days.

Nothing seemed out of place...seemed that not much had changed other than the flag and the grim faces of a whole cadre of grumpy immigration folks who for the most part seemed to be the famed grandchildren of the evil and most foul of the 1960's Red Guard Terrorists. These misguided youths had been raised on an endless sea of the Cultural Revolution's horror stories, mixed with outrageous CCP lies that their grand parents imparted to them in all of those years of fireside stories.

GOOD MORNING FROM VIRUS HOSTAGE XZ83495-9...

Six weeks...the same as the HK Thought Police held me for and after being interned (healthy-No Virus...been there and wouldn't like to repeat my mild case) here on this bright sunny island in the vast blue hued, Indian Ocean; I must say that the Hong Kong experience was far more fun - being in that great detention hall and able to make a fort out of the assembled bedding bunks...and in messing with the Thought Police's efforts to make me a better denizen..

Yes indeed!

At least there were (at times) a ton of people milling about even if they tended to be very unchatty... closed off...Still...there were people...not just this same lodge room (they call it a lodge in order to stay open as the gov't closed all the hotels right after I arrived). See what has become of me...I don't want to even think about what little will remain if this is further extended like the TV News reported this morning...Hope that is just more disinformation...FAKE NEWS! Send postcards...don't send money as there is no where to spend it anyway...

GREETINGS FROM THE LAND EMIL FORGOT!

We met yet again, on these distant sands of the need to take my duties as Emil's editor more serious as the books are starting to sell and with more readership comes the grammar Nazis.

They have swiftly descended down upon me with their long pens of correction drawn and dripping massive volumes of blood red correction ink. Circling me, they do and in a cult like chanting mantra about dangling paragraphs and even more archaic English grammar phraseology that died in the waning days of the British Raj or back when people actually still read real books made of paper, spit and glue.

I must admit that will have laid total waste to the written English Language and I am the first to complain that Emil is incapable of writing a complete sentence in any language!

But, if you shudder at our wanton distaste for any rules or sentence order, you are not an Emil Fan!

Emil writes in a spoken, conversational format that mirrors how Emil actually tells a story...as I always say, "the fleas come with the dog!"

GREETINGS FROM THE LAND EMIL FORGOT!

You will seriously need to set aside a good chunk of time and bring yourself some good walking shoes...

Leave the damn watch at home!

We will not be on the clock here and most defiantly and quickly ditch anyone saying

"Hey! Let's go shopping!"

Remember that in, only, a few more years, most if not all of these cultural treasures will be gone, these faded icons of the 1960's culture will be lost forever to the average man...women or child. What little that may remain will be antiquated, greedily sold by snooty art merchants from out of their home fortresses, all of those "Richie Rich" galleries.

These rare treasures will be offered up to their exclusive art investors and scooped up by their discrete clientele, all will be auctioned off at very ridiculously and stupid prices, offered up and served for only the super-rich who know to smartly invest in this native, this primitive art form and all pieces will by squire away, hidden away from plying view of everyone except to those privy to these stately, hillside, pleasure domes of spectator treasures or in the loft of their, oh so, trendy "infill" condos!

GREETINGS FROM THE LAND EMIL FORGOT!

This may well be your very last chance to live real history, to get all up close, feely and touchy without fear of being trashed within an inch of your live by some over-zealous, rent-a-cop at some snooty museum.

Indeed, these wall murals and street paintings are virtually all that remains true to the 1960's culture that made San Frannie such an icon city, it is still hiding here in amongst the rapid, urban redeveloped of the District which caters exclusively to the whims of the Starbucks drinkers and the imported cheese eating crowd...

and urban exploring tourists!

Most are these murals have already been ravaged, they have faded and in general, they are in a very poor state of repair...

Once they are gone...that's it!

Who will there be to remember?

Who will there be to retell these tales of adventure?

Who will there be to continue the call for social justice?

Who will be there that even care?

This is your mission, here today, you must commit these priceless treasures to film, etch them deep into your memory and take up the calling, to become the caretaker that faith has called you to be...

"Hidden in Plain Sight"

Greeting to all my assembled, a warm shout out to all my fellow Ghost Hunters; we have gathered here on this late summer afternoon, we are on a holy mission seeking redemption for all those gallant warriors, elder statesmen and even chambermaids who were so unfortunate to have been at the long place, at the wrong time and without a doubt, some did deserve their faith but, that is not my mission to make a moral judgement on the why's of them being cast into stone by the evil, wickedness of an ancient wizard, an evil tech with the advanced knowledge, the power to transform matter by a making a calculated change to its magnetic, vibration sequence(s) and in this case, turned them to stone.

I won't trouble you with even the simple science involved or little-a-lone, with all the technical justification of Tesla's theory which says nothing is solid and we are but, simple electrically charged particles that are vibrating at a specific frequency that gives us the illusion of solidness.

If we understand this and if we could find a way to adjust our own frequency to that of the wall, we could walk

LAST TIME I HAD...

Last time I had a slightly negative thing to say about Malaysian TV {specifically the Malaysian Home Shopping Network} I had to build a new web blog as they cut me down at the knees and locked me out of a perfectly good blog page!

So...I am NOT gonna make that mistake, again...
You and many still make a rather interesting case that I am not the brightest when it comes to being PC Nice and to a point I agree on many a day...I do!
As they say in Hell...the famed mantra is "Truth is the truth!"

I am too tired to get into yet another pissing match (tonight) with that vast army of Woke Warriors that have seized control on Twitter...

Oops! Did I do it again! I just heard Twitter burp and it is already humming like a hive of angry bees amassing somewhere near my blog...

REMEMBER!

Sorry! I got distracted again...

HOWDY! GREETINGS! WELCOME!

“There was a time” is a reasonable, a time tested and widely accepted catch phrase and story hook that has worked continually for vast thousands of years, even before we learned to write and promptly began civilization’s need for editors or so, that is what I have convinced Emil of and it kind of works but, Emil still elects to ignore any advise that I do offer... threaten or plea...

The more important thing and my primary focus is in planting a story idea in the fertile imagination of Emil’s otherwise blighted, ragged excuse of a brain...

If there were only a replacement!

No! I am not sending him to seek out the great wizard...although, Emil has started to take on a scarecrow, new age look and dress...recently...

In the end of my own Spartacus Moment with Emil, this month’s book was born...

The main argument was due to the misunderstanding that we were going to send Emil back to Tokyo for this assignment...in fact, that had been my plan until Mr. Charles (WWWG’s Head Accountant) reminded me that

Emil had a bunch of pictures left over from his last assignment there and that there was no need for Emil to go again – “just have him use all of those pictures we didn’t use last time...”

This is why Mr. Charles is such a treasure to WWWG as he is always looking after our bottom line.

Unfortunately, no one thought to let Emil know...
It has gone downhill very quickly from that point...

Seem that I truly was on a roll...I did get a lot done last night in the wee late hours and this inspiration extended well thru the mid-morning and I just realized that I seem to have misplace both breakfast and lunch...

Time it seems to take a much deserved break...except...my friends...

there is no where that I can go...

They (the lodge/hotel/boarding house - call it was you will) kind of banned me from the lobby...

I am on the black list the

Who would have guessed that the very agreeable front counter staff would be so swiftly and so utterly get bent totally out of shape...they did seem more than just

The mom of a very old and dear friend went to heaven today after she fought hard in her

Most recent battle with this evil plague...

I am sure that many of us here do share similar stories and personal experience(s) in the past several months.

I am closing down tonight to go light a candle and say a prayer for both of them - as those who are left behind are damaged too!

I urge all of the assembled Campers and even the by-passers to virtually join with me in remember all those who have passed in prayer and tomorrow, celebrate their life's many good times!

When I was in New Orleans, as a kid,

They do not mourn the dead...

they hold a parade and rejoice in recalling all of the good times of this person's life..."

Over the years and as I grow older; it becomes much easier to deal with this as death is all around me, it hovers about me with constant inquires into my

WELCOME TO THE WORLD THAT EMIL CREATED!

It might as well had snowed today here in Singapore, we might as well have seen pigs flying in formation over the office of WWWG as we are gonna publish yet another temple book from Emil.

Collectively, the management of WWWG has a great fear that Emil is bound to become a one-or-two-trick-pony as an author with this constant obsession with temples and his bad blood with China's CCP (Chinese Communist Party) as his personal muse.

Having made many pleas to Emil's better sense, the failure of such conversations about being reasonable and not even open threat to not publish any more books from him; I have authorized not one but two new books from Kyoto on temples.

I know you think I caved but, it was the subject matter that caught my interest - a temple of a 1000 faces...different?

I found that to be a rather interesting topic and after seeing the samples, I gave him the green light to go ahead.

I think you will find the illustrations rather striking. The two books were really just one very big book and would have added to costs and logistics; I agreed with Mr. Charles (WWWG's crack Accountant and my senior advisor) to divide it into two separate books with the second book being publish early next month...over Emil's artist objections of having to do extra work.

We are concerned over the new anti-photography laws enacted in Kyoto and are fearful of any roll Emil might have played in the reason(s) for such a law...

TIME IS NOT OUR FRIEND!

Welcome to all of you Veteran Emil fans (the few who remain) and let me express WWWG's appreciation for your heartfelt and still unexplainable devotion to all things Emil.

A year ago, we staged Emil's first Art Show in nearly half-a-generation (or so it seemed) since the successful Las Vegas showing in 2006. For reasons yet to be explained to our satisfaction, Emil has been asked to be a part of this year's Expo Singapore 2020; but my friends, we are not going to dedicate much time to finding out the backstory – mostly in fear that they might change their minds.

We have kept Emil in the dark as to this event as we do not need his God-given ability to screw things up to kick in or that he might open his non-WOKE, his very incorrect PC mouth, insult the wrong people or confront buyers with his signature attitude of being a "Warrior of the Truth."

This was/is a true concern to the collective staff of WWWG's due to the well established fact that Emil seems to have no ability to offer up any sensible compromise nor to even lightly grasp, little-a-lone understand basic economics, in that we do this to make a profit.

So Emil, I assume, will learn about this show about the same time that you are and this will be long after the

Much as we did before, this is a nightmare of logistics of taking Emil's art which was originally made for digital showing...but, it was fun!

Most readers here will already, all too well, understand that Emil is an acquired taste not unlike drinking apple

the recovery that comes later, is many times worth the initial effort and sometimes, the discomforted.

truly is... “Ulysses” this is NOT!

For those amongst of you who wear your hard-earned badge of PC Correctness with much pride, for all of you WOKE warriors and to any of the Lost Children of the WOKE Fellow Travelers; please, I beg you to stop reading here and burn this book!

Please do your sanity a favour by ordering more copies for all your friends to burn too...in fact, Mr. Charles, WWWG’s Crack Accounting Guru, came up with the novel idea of Emil Book Burning Parties.

We are developing an “Emil Book Burning Party” kit...
So, to Emil, your PC sensibilities are totally lost on his very self-focused mindset but, friends...this is what will lead you to follow Emil’s continued mis-adventures such as his low speed chase through the streets of a fourth world nation after he tried to cash his newly printed “Donald Trump” 500 dollars bills (USD) at a local currency exchange...and on and on, again!

The Sage stood at the door and he openingly declared that the Revolution, it's time has come and that if you loved India, you must stand tall and as he parted he said Revolution starts with one man standing up and saying "NO!" All words we took to heart and thus, the seed was planted...

GREETINGS FROM THE LOST WORLD OF EMIL

Friends, neighbors and surprisingly, many of you seem to be fans of Emil and his ever increasing sense of miss-direction, confusions and lost of all practical sense... even more than normal...

We are deeply concerned in regards to recent events in Emil's personal life and hopefully, you will be too. Maybe it is that evil demon of age that has made such a drastic advancement, gripping a foothold somewhere leeching deep in the recesses, lost out there in the back forty of Emil's decreasing, shrinking brain...

Remember all of those old American TV PSA's
"Here is your brain on drugs...?"

Yea...those!

That is Emil minus the drugs, due to his natural chemical imbalances and being that Emil is the cheapest SOB that I have known, Emil never had an reason for drugs little alone the funds to partake.

Anyway, we light a candle, say a prayer for Emil to return to his normal insanity...we hope you will too.

ASHBURY PARK TIS AIN'T! BUT, WHAT DE HECK!

There was a time, yes! Indeed, there was definitely a time, even if it was to be truthful, in that it was actually somewhat removed and really shaded differently from these modern times...there was still a time that was somehow relatable to what is going on...that we can draw meaning from and we can seek out a better solution this time around...someone once said that history repeats...like summertime TV.

What time or times?

Not really sure if I want to commit to a special date, time or era as some internet troll will make it their mission to fact check me into the next generation and the whole thought that I was so badly trying to convey will be hopeless loss in troll speak and in madding banter in a "take-no-prisoner" violent Twitter Blitzkrieg...

The world has finally reached its saturation level of freakishness' lost in the angry lust brought on by a seeming and obsessed desire to not only burn the system down but, seem hell-bent and is seemingly trying to one-up my level of what was my "Chemical Imbalances."

"ONCE UPON A TIME IN OLD SIAM"

Seine, Claudie and me first came to Siam after being chased through Southern China after we left on the last lorry out of Nanking (Nanjing) by this spiteful, young Jap Officer as we had borrowed his own transportation (which did include his household items to include a very nice, antique Samurai Sword) and we almost always was just a half-a-step ahead of him to the Burmese (British Empire) Border...

From there we were quite quickly...it was strongly encouraged by the local Tommies that we be moving on - given the Jap interest in getting a hold of our hides. From there we ended up in the riverside town, Bangkok and settled into an extended career in freeing the rich expats from their stolen riches...with Seine's "Treasure Expeditions in the deep, forbidding Asian Jungles."

The local authorities pay little attention as long as we remembered them on birthdays and as long as we didn't frack over the locals - which we never did!

I have written extensively of these days in my various books and (Seine would now be so proud by me saying) you can pick them up and read further if interested... These are a few scenes of the old times that were Siam before the Japs marched in nearly a dedicate later...

"Yanong Folk Art from the 1800's"

Like the lyrics of an ancient folk-era song and to paraphrase that brilliant song ever so badly; I ask a question that has become a heated, angered discussion here at WWWG...

"Where have all you Emil Fans Gone?"

According to our corporate accountant brain trust, Emil's sales have dropped off the charts – not that they were ever great to start with and I am at a total lost as to what reason(s) may be.

It was ventured by those with a well-stated, EDS (Emil Deranged Syndrome) like our entire accounting department and spreading out through our marketing staff all the way to one of the janitors from the 2nd floor who have all expressed strong opinions of Emil having always been a meaningless hack who has never been able string together a complete sentence in the English language (and this came from the janitor who doesn't speak any English)...

Countering this collective, group thought for what it really is...these people really do hate Emil to the point that I have seen several start physically shake or have seen their eyes start twitching whenever Emil comes into the conversation; I pushed beyond this simplistic argument to see if there was a more solid reason(s) for the decline in sales.

In conclusion, in my own opinion, is the fact that Emil has done too many temple books much to my continued pleas to do otherwise or it could be that Emil's greatest number of fans from Japan and to a lesser extent, those in England (who rather enjoy Emil's lack of any command of the English Language and use it to demean American Intelligent) went away for a Christmas Holiday, bought too many presents and had nothing left over to help Emil out.

I guess ONLY time will tell!

“Where have all you Emil Fans Gone?”

NOTE:

Originally, I deleted, shred and sometimes even then burnt all these Telex Messages, faxes and the occasional e-mails that I receive from Emil mostly due to the warning from our corporate lawyers about a serious need to have “deniability over Emil and any activity(s) that he might be involved in and thus limit our legal responsibility for anything he might do, say or get himself involved (improperly) with.”

This actually replaced all the pages of Emil’s soapbox that I had to delete about what he called the coming and more American political nonsense and slander that...I am told would keep us (WWWG) in litigation until the year 3000.

“Chinese Plague”

none of us would still be above ground!

When we first came to China back in the early 1930's, we passed through Shanghai on our fateful journey to Nanjing...

We stopped over for a most needed rest and mixed that with much needed work in the International District of the Shanghai Collective

(so named by our generous sponsors...my dear friends that I believed at the time – that it offered a shot at true, economic liberty for the hundreds of millions proud Chinese Workers who lived in worse than slave like conditions at the hands of the National Gangsters who illegally seized power away from the dying remains of the Empire).

Shanghai was a wild, sinful city that had no equal into the depths of the true belief that there was NO sin below Shanghai!

The International District was the home base of the Foreign Devils that raped China and it's people both in a physical and an economic sense.

The district was populated with the domed, pleasure mansion/estates of the rich and famous, it was run by corrupt, Tai Pan Civil Servants who answered directly to their gangster overlords.

A modern comparison might be a raunchy version of Las Vegas on steroids mixed, blended with a mean version of 1930's Chicago...

For our small cadre of Foreign Devils still suffering from the difficult journey from our last successful venue in Havana, Cuba; we were more than ready for these several weeks of R&R here in Shanghai as I negotiated our further passage to our waiting jobs in Nanjing.

In those days, the war with the Imperial Nippon Army was like a thunderstorm on the distant horizon and was not a topic to be discussed in proper society and they didn't!

The sheer amount of wealth here would have defied
the concept of a world depression...here in Shanghai, time stopped and it seemed and felt much like it was still 1926...

I took the lead on the intro to this book as Emil's memories of this eventful passage are few and far in-between...due in no large part to the open bar at the Lia Pol Gentleman's Club and where most (if not all) of the sketches enclosed were created...

Being low on resources after almost a year of passage from Havana, Emil sat up shop doing his normal doddles for about seven francs per picture...

I still content that Emil could have done so much better if he would have charged more given the seemingly, unlimited supply of cash that dripped from the clientele here at the Lia Pol...

ARE YOU ALL HERE???

Thank Goodness...with all the craziness going on and the frightful sights and video coming out of the plague’s hot zones...(Can I say this? Our legal teams is debating this at this very moment)

Anyway, Emil has debarked from his winter home in Yangon with whatever this is (virus/plague/bio) still tugging on his shoulder, nipping at his heels but only after taking a big bite out of his butt.

Seems that Emil might have, could have been a mere statistic in the global drama as there were NO test kits and people were openingly being told to go home as there was no room in the inn (hospitals) and that they should pray for recovery – suggesting that they were leaving it up to God to pick or choose...

Luckily for Emil, it might be true that only the good die young...Billy Joel seems to have gotten it right after all? With borders closed and panic spreading he couldn’t get back to Singapore...So he went to one of the few places that was willing to accept him: Penang.

A SEAT OF MY OWN...

Just passed through duty free but I was rather disappointed, disheartened when I saw that they lacked even the very basics of any 1st rate duty free...

Not only wasn't there a bottle of Cuban Rum in sight but, all I got was blank stares when I was so foolish to bring Cuban Cigars into my want list – although, one young clerk did rally to my cause as he too had a deep love of Cuban Cigars like they use to get by the plane full when he was a kid growing up in Laos...

Nice Kid!

So...I am departing disappointed and somewhat fearful as I am on a refugee flight special to one of the last countries still open to Hobo Tourists and it is technically, a "Dry Country" and I have not a single bottle to help me transition in with...

Luckily, I will get the insider assurances that "It is a dry Country {Wink...Wink...Hint...Hint...}

LATER, THE NEXT MORNING IN PENANG...

After a short while and I am sure that a couple of angry tourists ratted me out for hogging the only bench, an old monk came over and asked if he could sit for a while.

"Well?"

Of course, what am I gonna say...this is his house, he has a home court advantage and I once vowed to never get into a street fight with a monk.

I remember those bad ass monks in Viet Nam...

No Coco-Cola Buddhism there.

I remember them setting themselves on fire over some political or social issue.

You always passed one with real caution, especially if they smelled of petrol or kerosene and NEVER, make direct eye contact.

Anyone who feels this deeply about things is not a reasonable person and you are gonna come out on the short end of that stick."

Work on the new book is running along just swimmingly...Indeed!

Well...kind of...sort of...seeing that I was handicapped by such a late start on the project...and given my Jesuit Trained thought process...I am calling it an "Act of God" and who am I to challenge the will of God???

I've got this...just had to figure that a summer of community service at the Catholic Mission would (after all these years) kick in at just the right time to explain my project lateness to Seine and his socialist accountant thugs at our now weekly Skype Conference Call in the AM...

While those thug accountants that Seine surrounds himself with these days may not be true believers....but, Seine is and in the end...I am hoping that is what really counts...

You say that you have a betting pool already going on this and that I am not fairing well in the wagers or in the spread???

Can I get a piece of the action here too?

"REGGIE...WHO????"

Reggie was somewhat unusual, he was a good sort of fellow, not overly jolly or loud but; was in fact, he was usually rather polite to even the lowest casts and you would find, most times, he was most pleasant and agreeable from what you expect as the normal expat sort of fellow who populated the vast majority of service positions here in the confines of the International Zone.

He was not your run-of-the-mill, he was so unlike the vast majority of the other expats who tended to be the troubled sons of some third or fourth-rate nobles whose only claim to fame was that they had been exiled here to the other end of the world in dire hope(s) of ridding their family of some unseemly scandal all the while the family was praying that their wayward son might soon grow into a man from the experience here...

"The Saga of Tan and James"

Tan and James grew up on the hard streets of Old Shanghai, cutting their teeth on random acts of hooliganism and thievery to survive. Their core education came from this school of the streets all the way up to or beyond what we would call advanced graduate work in abandon thuggery. Their success was manifest by the fact that they rose up to the point of being local, neighborhood made men and who now spent the largest part of their day waiting for their boss needing someone's windpipe snapped due to a missed or non-repayment of a secured loan or to make someone disappear due to some misdeed or believed insult to their big-time, Triad Boss Man.

These guys loved those American-made movies and they were especially fond of Tom Mix's Westerns and while they were killing time about the club; they were always bragging how they should have been born a long time ago, they devoted a large part of the afternoons trying to convince the White Russian Gals that they would have put Old Tom to shame if only they had not been born about a 100-years too late.

So one day out of, I guess, boredom...I made their dream come true and from that moment on...
we were friends for life!

"Late Sunday Morning @ Lai Pol's Gentleman's Club"

Tina was a sweat young gal and she had a dream of joining her cousin in America someday... Her second cousin had married an American guy and they lived in San Francisco...every penny she could scrap together from selling flowers at Lai Pol's went towards the price of transit...

There was always seemed to some junior Taipan throwing up yet another complicated government form and/or was demanding yet another huge service fee that made her so beyond frustrated!

Good Kid!

I promised to have Seine's friends take a look at her difficulties with hope that they might help her... She stopped by yesterday with a packed traveling bag and freshly made steamer boat ticket to San Francisco. Her smile hardly fit in through the door and it seemed that her feet were hardly touching the floor... she was a very happy Camper...Thanks to Seine!

HOLD ON TO YOUR PANTALOONS...EMIL FANS!

When Emil first approached me with the outline for this book, my first response was more attune to "Haven't we beat that dog (the War) enough?" and I went on to express my earnest opinion that most regular readers are well aware of wartime experiences and in how we declared our own peace treaty with the German Empire, left the war and went to

At this point, about page 40, after a long, drawn out discussion (argument/fight) between Mr. Charles (WWWG's Crack Accounting Chief) and a totally pissed off Emil over what his contract said or didn't say in regards to WWWG's right to edit or restructure his work for the benefit of WWWG Sales and/or promotions.
